

From the CEO's desk:

What an unbelievable start we've had to the year. Never before have we had to care so much about the safety of our Extentians, families, partners, customers, communities, and friends. As we reorganized our lives in March – our top priority was the health and safety of our extended Extentia family. And, as we settled into our new normals and routines, we shifted our attention to supporting business continuity for our customers and partners.

Extentians across the country and world have quickly adapted to working remotely and working from home. We've seen incredible sustained productivity, an incredible attitude of support, and the agility we expect from our teams as we adapt to a new world.

We've been working on several online initiatives with our customers, partners, and of course our valuable Extentians. Read on to learn more!

As always, we are posting regular updates on social media – don't forget to check them out!

Of course, your comments and suggestions are always valued, and we look forward to hearing them.

Please, wash your hands and stay safe (never expected to sign off with that...),

Umeed Kothavala

EXTENTIA IN THE NEWS

A year after we launched our XEN LAB PNQ Experience Center, we've quickly migrated as much of that magical experience to the online and virtual world as possible. XEN UNWIRED delivers the process, gamification, engagement, and outcomes that our participants expect – all online. We're excited to see what we're delivering with XEN UNWIRED and invite you to learn more about our workshops.

Click here!

As a member of the SAP AppHaus Network, Extentia has been recognized as part of their recent 'Go Virtual' initiative.

Read about it!

We were thrilled to announce the expansion of our collaboration with fivestar*, our long-time partner in the United States. Together, we will be providing a range of services to customers and partners in the Salesforce ecosystem.

Now, for how we're dealing with the WFH situation (and we want to hear from you too!)

Here's what we've posted about during the pandemic. Thankfully, we expect to be ready for a post COVID-19 world. Check out our blog posts and videos.

Our intra-company competition – XPL – has been kept alive during this pandemic and has moved online (no surprise there). We even held our first virtual annual quiz in July.

Want to see what kept our quizzers on their toes? Just ask!

Take care and stay safe!

— Team Extentia